

SMS Terms and Conditions

This page provides the terms and conditions regarding SMS messaging communications from CapRadio.

CapRadio sends text messages using an SMS messaging service to communicate with listeners and members regarding station updates, membership, donation requests, informational messages about special events, or payment processing declines. You are not required to subscribe to this service in order to donate or to be a member. This service provides you with information via text messaging the organization deems helpful and pertinent to the process of accessing our content or for supporting our public service mission.

Opt-in

Individuals may opt-in to receiving text messages (i.e., SMS messages) by completing a form at www.capradio.org/privacy/.

Messaging Costs

Standard message and data rates from your wireless carrier may apply. When you opt-in to receive SMS messages, you are responsible for any carrier fees such as data plan charges, text messaging charges, tolls, out-of-area roaming, and other charges. Messaging frequency per month varies based on your student status and associated actions. Check with your mobile operator for details on receiving text messages (SMS).

Carriers

Note that SMS communications from CapRadio may not be available through all mobile carriers.

STOP/Opt-out Information

If you wish to opt-out of text messages, text STOP to stop receiving text messages from CapRadio. You may also opt-out to receiving text messages (i.e., SMS messages) by completing a form at www.capradio.org/privacy/. Please note that opting out will remove you from all future text communications with the organization, including events you may register for in the future, unless you opt back in to receiving texts.

Privacy Policy

Your use of the SMS messaging service is governed by CapRadio's Privacy Policy. CapRadio will not ask you for, nor should you provide, personally identifiable information, passwords, or any other confidential or sensitive information in SMS messages. Except as permitted by the organization's privacy policy, CapRadio does not share your information with third parties.

All mobile information you share with CapRadio will remain confidential and will only be used by organization representatives. Types of messages you may receive include station updates, renewal requests, donation requests, informational messages about special events, or payment processing declines.
