

“ There are only four kinds of people in the world: those who have been caregivers, those who are currently caregivers, those who will be caregivers and those who will need caregivers. ”
– Rosalynn Carter

Four in 10 American adults are family caregivers.

They provide for the needs of aging parents, ailing spouses and children with severe disabilities. It's a labor of love that takes a tremendous toll on the caregivers' physical and mental health as well as financial stability. But who cares for the caregivers? And how do they care for themselves?
